The Profile - Wonders of the World series takes a new approach to the world's most famous sites or monuments, names that everybody will recognise and with a fair amount of mythological baggage attached. Most of these monuments have been written about many times before; but these books are more than straightforward histories or guides. They are biographies, aiming to bring out both the historical story and the mythology of the buildings. They are stimulating, even controversial. The authors are top writers, and many of them are academics of distinction.

The Profile - Wonders of the World series is edited by Mary Beard.
